CALLAHAN OUSTED; BEAL SUCCESSOR

Governor Saltonstall today removed Public Works Commissioner William F. Callahan from office, and immediately won approval of the action from the executive council by a vote of six to three.

John H. Beal, of Hanover, member of the State Republican Committee, and an architect and engineer, was appointed by the governor to succeed Callahan.

The governor took action, he said in his message to the council, on the basis of two of the 14 charges preferred against the commissioner by a special commission which investigated the public works department last June.

Callahan was charged with squandering public funds in the execution of hurricane rehabilitation contracts.

QUICK ACTION SURPRISES

The council's prompt concurrence with the governor, made possible under a suspension of the rules, came as a distinct surprise in State House circles.

The council had before it a last minute appeael from the ousted commissioner asking for a hearing before that body, and indicating his intention to fight his discharge in the courts if the council voted against him.

Voting for Callahan's retention were Daniel H. Coakley, the council's lone Democrat, and Republicans Edgar Lindsay of Brockton and Arthur Hastings of Springfield.

Hastings had announced before the meeting that he favored Callahan, stating the commissioner had not received credit for saving the state millions of dollars in lost revenues by promptly reopening state highways after the hurricane.

STIRS HOT DEBOTE

Backing the Governor's stand, and mustering the necessary two-thirds majority, without which the ouster could not have been considered for at least another week, were Lieutenant Governor Horace T. Cahill, of Braintree, Councilors George Nelson of Worcester, Clayton Havey of Boston, Frank Brooks of Concord, Bayard Tuckerman of Hamilton, and Eugene Burnett of Somerville.

The council's action came after two hours of heated debate, during which newsmen, kept ten yards away from the corridor leading to the executive chambers, could hear desks thumped and voices raised in wrangling anger.

It had been thought the governor would be unable to command the six to three vote which would suspend the rule and bring immediate action, but as lunch time came and went, with no sign of a decision, it became apparent that Callahan's supporters were fighting a hard battle.

Naming of Beal was another surprise in Capitol Hill circles.

Previously, Robert Lee Whipple of Worcester, former army engineer and one-time state purchasing agent, and Elmer Nelson, the Governor's job secretary, had been named as likely to head the department which is one of the State's largest spending units.

Callahan's ouster went through without formal protest from former Governor Hurley, who reappointed Callahan in 1937.

PLANS COURT BATTLE

Hurley telephoned Governor Saltonstall from his home in Hull last night, it was learned, but abandoned his plan to make a personal protest after Governor Saltonstall told him his mind was made up.

In his dramatic last minute appeal to the council, Callahan said he had been urged to bring suit against the members of the investigating commission when they turned in their report, but had hitherto refrained from doing so.

He definitely indicated intention to "seek vindication in the courts."

30,000 See Red Sox In 2nd Chisox Bill; Wilson vs. Dietrich

By JOE CASHMAN

FENWAY PARK, July 26—The start of the second successive Red Sox-White Sox doubleheader here this hazy afternoon found in excess of 20,000 boys and girls in the stands and thousands more pouring through the turnstiles in a steady stream.

It was estimated that at least 30,000 would be eventually present to watch the second place Cronin men battle to gain straight victories No. 7 and 8 and cut down the New York Yankees' lead of seven games.

A repetition of their twin win of yesterday would guarantee the Fenway favorites shaving at least a half game off the Bombers' lead as the latter were playing but one game in New York.

DIETRICH FACES SOX

The White Sox countered with Bill "Specs" Dietrich, who started the only game the Yawkeys were able to win in a five-game engagement in Chicago last week.

The nightcap was to be a southpaw duel with Freddie "Frits" Ostermueller stepping out to match skill with thorny "Lefty" Lee, who whitewashed our heroes in the Windy City last week to become the first and, to date, only pitcher to beat the Back Bay boys this season.

Each team presented the same supporting cast that played through yesterday's fames.

$1700 Bank Holdup in Georgetown

GEORGETOWN, July 26—Three armed men held up the Georgetown Savings Bank, Main street, today and escaped with loot estimated at $1700.

The men, who were riding in a stolen Ford coupe, entered the bank at about 1:30 o'clock, flourishing pistols, and threatened Lewis Giles, 76, the treasurer, who was forced to turn over all currency in the cash drawer.

All were gray shirts and the driver of the car were a cap.

They dashed away from the bank towards Jackman street and pursuers were soon outdistanced.

The car had been stolen but a little time before the robbery from in front of the Boxford Nurseries. It belonged to Miss Bernice Smith, and it was employes of the nursery who chased the men.

DONN FENDLER, FOUND AFTER 8 DAYS

Stumbles Into Camp 35 Miles Away

LOST BOY SCOUT TELLS OWN STORY OF DAYS IN WILDS

From a camp in the depths of the Maine forest came the voice of 12-year-old Donn Fendler today, halting words which described how he won his fight for life.

The boy's story was thrice-relayed to the Boston Evening American through the co-operation of telephone operators in Bangor and Sherman, Me., and Nelson McMoarn, rescuer of the boy.

Only a small woods telephone line reached from Sherman, Me., to McMoarn's camp in Staceyville Plantations, Me., the last 30 miles of a 285-mile call from Boston.

By DONN FENDLER, JR.

Copyright, 1939, by the New England Newspaper Publishing Co.

It may seem kind of funny now, but for the first two days I felt sure I was right near our camp and could find it easy.

After we'd set up camp in the state forest, late in the afternoon, I thought I'd take a little walk along the side of Mount Katahdin to see the view.

All of a sudden, a cloud came around me—just like thick fog—and I couldn't see where I was going. The bushes were all dripping and the rocks were so slippery I kept stumbling. After waiting awhile, I decided to try to find the camp in spite of the fog.

It grew dark awfully fast, but I kept walking till I fell in a hole between the rocks. It must have been as deep as my head, maybe more—six or eight feet—and I hurt my hip.

After that, I decided to wait until morning. When the sun came up, I kept on going down the mountain toward where I thought our camp was. I wasn't scared a bit then, it seemed kind of exciting and fun.

When I lost the path, I got worried some, especially because my clothes kept tearing on the bushes. My hip started to get awfully sore, too, and I began limping.

I'd whistle all the time and sing to keep up my spirits—I felt terribly lonesome that second night.

The next day, everything seemed so strange and wild. I knew I was lost, but only tried to walk faster. I figured the faster I walked the sooner I'd find somebody and get something to eat!

Every day, I just kept heading down hill. There were some wild strawberries and blueberries when I got down below the timber line. I ate all I could, but the blueberries were terribly sour.

At night, I gathered branches and pine needles to sleep on. Each night I tried to hope for the best and prayed for help. I guess I cried some, too.

Sisters Grab Thief In Boudoir Battle

He thought he was in a den of wildcats. Police were welcome rescuers. A police cell was a haven of security.

And no matter what happens to the young burglar who broke into the Yanuss home, in E street, South Boston, early today, it can be no worse than the treatment accorded him by the buxom Yanuss sisters—Freda and Marion—when they caught him in their bedroom.

He is held as a suspicious person at the moment, and will go to court tomorrow.

Peace—to begin at the beginning—reigned in the Yanuss menage. Papa William, no midget himself, was asleep in the master's bedroom.

Freda, 23, and Marion, 20, were dreaming sweetly of events not at all associated with burglars.

Tippy, the Yanuss' Pomeranian, was somnolent on the doormat.

Now, the Yanuss mansion has been robbed twice before. The family is generally ready for almost any emergency. When burglar No. 3, a 23-year-old South Boston amateur, cut the screen away and crept into the rom, Tippy was on the alert.

With a couple of yelps, he hurled his minute body at the intruder. The next minute the burglar thought that he was leading a one-man charge on the Western Front.

Raising an Amazonian battle cry, Freda leaped into the fray, followed by Marion but a split second behind. It was lefts and rights, and rights and lefts. Kicks, pulls, bites and wallops.

The burglar went down. He was down again. Up. Down.

"And at last," says Freda, "I got him with a shoe!"

Papa tried to referee. But it was strictly catch-as-catch-can, free style—and the burglar caught everything from a french heel on the head to a thumb in the eye.

He was rescued by Policemen Joseph McGillivray and William H. Stanley, who arrived in a police car just in the nick of time.

"I really," says Freda, "did a job with that shoe."

When a burglar entered the William Yanuss home in South Boston he realized he had made a mistake. For daughters Marion and Freda, Pa Yanuss and a pet dog all pitched in . . . until police had to save the burglar. Here a friend helps the famiy re-enact the "crime."

WOMAN LEGION LEADER SUICIDE IN GLOUCESTER

GLOUCESTER, July 26—There was a blanket on the floor, and a pillow for her head.

Then, when all was arranged, Miss Helen Easson, 32, ex-head of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion here, turned on the gas, lay down to die in the kitchen of the home where she lived at 22 Granite street. Her body was found today.

In taking her own life, however, she imperilled the lives of Mrs. Lillian Burnham, present head of the auxiliary, her landlady and her closest friend, as well as the lives of the rest of the Burnham family. Gas had permeated the house and it was only by chance that Mrs. Burnham happened to be awakened.

A verdict of suicide was returned by Medical Examiner Ira B. Hull. Despondency over ill-health was given as the reason.

Miss Easson had for years been employed in the Back Bay office of a Boston insurance company.

BALM GIRL DEMANDS REPLY IN LOVE QUIZ

Because he answered but one "love question" in connection with the $100,000 heart balm suit brought against him by pretty Miss Helen Alvord, Back Bay model, a motion was filed in Suffolk Superior court today that Rogers N. Farr, 43, prominent Boston business executive, be ordered to answer all the questions submitted to him.

Farr's sole answer to a "love question" was a negative one—a denial that he had ever asked Miss Alvord to marry him.

He answered a few other questions, too, but "on advice of counsel" refused to answer several queries pertinent to the issue, in the opinion of Miss Alvord's counsel, Attorney Nathan Fink.

Farr's answer was disclosed in the same court as his response to interrogatories previously filed by Miss Alvord.

Among the interrogatories which Farr declined to answer by advice of counsel were:

"Did you live as Mr. and Mrs. Rogers Farr for about one year at No. — Beacon st., Boston?"

"Did you ever introduce or hold out to persons that she (the plaintiff) was your wife."

Farr had stated he is now living in Ellisville, Mass., and is unemployed, having recently lost his job. Asked if he was married to Sarah C. Farr, he answered: "Yes."

In response to the question:

"Did you ever promise to marry the plaintiff?" Farr's answer was: "No."

Attorney Nathan Fink marked his motion for a hearing next Tuesday at 9:30 a. m., to compel Farr to answer the other questions.

Madge Evans in Maine Bride

Possibility of a brief honeymoon in Boston today was seen for newlyweds Madge Evans, blonde film beauty, and Sidney Kingsley, Pulitzer prize winning playwright.

The one-day honeymoon would be cut short, however, by the necessity of the new bride's appearance in the play, "Brief Moment", at the Ogunquit Playhouse tonight.

The couple eloped to York Village, Me., and were married by a justice of the peace, an official of the playhouse disclosed. Miss Evans did not take time even to change the dress she wore in the final act of the play.

Damian O'Flynn, Ogunquit actor, was best man and was quoted as saying the newlyweds motored in a southerly direction after the ceremony, the official added.

Kingsley had to borrow a ring from O'Flynn in order to get married, the actor is said to have revealed.

Ogunquit players said that Kingsley had come to the Maine resort from Hollywood "presumably just for a visit" and the couple had previously announced they would be married some time "in the fall."

Miss Evans, making a "guest" appearance at the playhouse this week, is 25. Kingsley, author of "Dead End," "Men in White" and other Broadway hits, is 32.

Nude Woman Greets Dawn In Rooftop Song

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—Shortly before dawn today, a passerby on West 49th street looked up and saw a nude woman perched on the roof of a five-story building, dangling her feet over the eaves.

Balancing precariously, she whistled a little tune.

Back came the passerby a few minutes later with a policeman. By that time a small group had gathered, and the woman was hailing them with quips and bits of song.

Patrolman Michael Higgins hurried to the roof. As she was brought back from the edge and wrapped with a bathtowel, John Louis arrived from the adjoining building looking for his wife, Dorothy, 24.

They had been celebrating his birthday, he said, with a party in their apartment, and he had fallen asleep in his chair. Dorothy apparently had wandered out in search of livelier doings.

Cuddle, Kiss-Calm

AMHERST, July 26—When baby cries, cuddle and kiss him.

Such was the advice given by Mrs. Marion F. McDowell, child specialist of New Jersey State College, at the home makers' meeting at Massachusetts State College.

Declaring that parents should never let the baby "cry it out," she added:

"Cuddling and kissing are the important things to do when the baby cries, because the baby has to feel he is wanted in order to be happy.

"Gone is the day of believing in the 'behavioristic' theory that infants should be treated as adults, and that no emotion should be shown toward them."

Doctors Win U.S. Anti-Trust Suit

WASHINGTON, July 26 (INS)—The federal government's anti-trust suit against the American Medical Association and allied associations, collapsed in District of Columbia Supreme Court today.

Justice James M. Proctor ruled that in his opinion "medical practice is not a trade within the meaning of Section 3 of the Sherman act."

The justice's opinion tore down the government's case against the association, the district Medical Society, the Harris County Medical Society of Houston, Tex., and the 21 prominent physicians named as co-defendants.

Justice Proctor's action upheld the A. M. A.'s demurrer to the indictment and gave the forces of organized medicine a complete victory in the first phase of the court battle over socialized medicine.

The government, to carry the fight further, must appeal to a higher court. This step was expected, although Department of Justice officials would not say what their next move would be, pending a thorough study of the ruling.

The defendants, named in the indictment returned last December after nearly three months of deliberation by a specially impanelled grand jury, were accused of acting in restraint of trade in their fight against Washington's pioneer medical co-operative, the group health association.

"In my opinion medical practice is not a trade within the meaning of section three of the Sherman act," Justice Proctor said. And in those few words he destroyed the framework for the indictment of organized medicine.

WOMAN LIFER CALLS HER FLING 'WORTH IT'

DALLAS, Tex., July 26 (INS)—"One little adventure in this dull life of mine" was at an end today for Velma West, 32-year-old hammer murderess who escaped June 19 from the Marysville, O., women's reformatory.

A police hunt that had stretched into every corner of the nation came to an end when three Dallas detectives walked up to the woman and one of her fugitive companions, Mary Ellen Richards, 24, of Cincinnati, in the Dallas market district last night.

Two other women who joined Mrs. West and Miss Richards in the jail-break have not been found. Mrs. West, who readily admitted her identity, said the group had split up after the break. Florence Sheline, 23, of Gallipolis, left them while they were hitch-hiking to Dallas, and Virginia Brawdy, 19, of Akron, left them after they arrived here.

Mrs. West said her escape was "worth it."

"I had a good time and it was worth it," she said. "I got the bug to escape when I went before the parole board after serving years and was told that I would have to spend the rest of my life in prison. You can't do that to a young woman. I waited five years for my break and I didn't muff it."

When she escaped, Mrs. West left behind a note saying:

"I must have one little adventure in this dull life of mine. If this should in any way cause you trouble, I shall come back immediately."

Eleven years of a life sentence—more than a year of it in solitary confinement, she told officers—had worn the nerves of the woman who was found guilty of beating her husband, Thomas Edward West, 26, to death with a claw hammer.

Pale and emaciated, Mrs. West clearly showed the results of a long confinement and told of her despair of ever obtaining any legal means of release.

Gold Held in France Given to Franco

PARIS, July 26 (AP)—A Paris court decided today that 1,500,000,000 francs (about $39,730,000) worth of Spanish gold sent to France by officials of the fallen Spanish republic should be handed over to the Bank of Burgos, organ of the victorious Nationalist government.

The ruling recognized the Nationalist bank as the sole legal bank of Spain and approved the transfer of the gold from the Bank of France, where it has been held for about two years.

Miss Massachusetts

Alva Primps Up in New York's Ritz-Carlton Hotel

She Watches Aquacade With Famous 'Al' Smith

She Poses With 'Tarzan' Johnny Weissmuller

'MISS BAY STATE' GETS BIG THRILL FROM FAIR

The biggest town in the world is her's for a week—and Alva A. Pearson, Massachusetts' "fairest flower" loves it.

Accompanied by her mother, the blonde, blue-eyed Worcester girl chosen as "Miss Massachusetts" in a contest sponsored by the Boston Evening American, the Boston Sunday Advertiser and the Daily Record, arrived in New York yesterday morning aboard the Eastern Steamship coastwise liner Boston—and the World's Fair was promptly turned over to her.

Today, as she looked back on her first day at the Fair, the girl passed judgement on the Massachusetts exhibit as the outstanding one among those sponsored by the states.

"I want to be fair about it," she smiled, "and of course I haven't inspected all the others in detail yet, but the Massachusetts exhibit really stands out. Its method of presenting the feeling of the state's history, together with what we Massachusetts people are doing now, is what I liked most."

Alva has her own guide as she tours the Fair, under a schedule drafted by Leo Casey, World's Fair press director, to keep the girl from exhausting herself.

"There's so much to see that I could very easily tire myself out, if they didn't watch me," she said.

Today, the highlight of her day is a luncheon party given for her by the World's Fair directors, at which a score of Massachusetts Fair delegates will gather around the table to honor the girl chosen as typical of Massachusetts beauty.

IRA BLAST IN LONDON KILLS ONE

LONDON, July 26 (AP)—Sixteen persons were hurt, one fatally, when an explosion, blamed by police on the allegal Irish Republican Arm, shattered the baggage room of one of London's most crowded railway stations today.

Ronald Campbell died several hours later from injuries.

The blast, which followed by two days Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare's dramatic recital of the terroristic "plans" in the House of Commons, set off a lunch time panic in the King's Cross station of the London and Northeastern Railroad.

Broken glass and litter were blown over an area nearly 40 yards square. A checkroom attendant had his hands mangled. Three customers, two of them women, and two other employes felt the full force of the blast.

James L. Fly to Get McNinch Radio Post

WASHINGTON, July 25 (INS)—President Roosevelt is about to appoint James Lawrence Fly, of Knoxville, as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, it was learned today. Fly is general counsel to the Tennessee Valley Authority, and at one time was a secretary to Senator Pat Harrison, (D.) of Mississippi.

Frank R. McNinch, present chairman of the agency which regulates the telephone and radio industry, has asked the President to allow him to resign as of September 1 because of ill health.

Both Parties Join To Beat Sales Tax

Efforts of legislators to draw up a $50,000,000 revenue program for Massachusetts, based on a modified sales tax, were thrown into utter confusion today as more members of both parties took stands against the scheme.

Organized labor, chambers of commerce, the Boston Retail Trade board, State Grange and the Massachusetts Council of Retail Merchants were among the 150 organizations trying to block all sales tax proposals.

Polls of Republicans and Democrats in the House indicated that a sales tax, modified or in any kind of form, will be defeated by at least a three to one vote.

The sudden turn of events forced members of the House ways and means committee to turn desperately to preliminary revenue plans, such as increasing the levies on liquor and dog racing, so that some sort of revenue measure can be submitted for debate this week.

Governor Saltonstall has warned the legislature that he will not permit prorogation until adequate tax measures are passed.

His suggestions for extending the income tax base by lowering exemptions and for increasing the gasoline and cigarette taxes were studied anew today as hopes of party leaders for the modified sales tax went glimmering.

Rep. Edward T. Brady of Somerville announced that he had obtained pledges from 33 Democratic House members to vote against any sales tax whatever; also to demand a rollcall on any sales tax measure. A paper was circulated for more pledges to insist on a rollcall.

The sales tax plan, even a modified one, was denounced by Brady as "one more soak-the-poor scheme sponsored by present Republican leaders."

"It proves," Brady went on, "that the present administration is not one representing the wishes and desires of the rank and file of the Republican party but a 'millionaire administration' for the benefit of the few against the interests of the many. Why, they even propose a tax on candy, ice cream and soft drinks that little children consume."

Republican leaders hoped for an early report from ways and means so that the proposed amendments to the governor's $50,000,000 tax program could be put in today and reach House debate tomorrow.

Fog Blocks Ships, Showers Promised

Most of the moisture in parched New England hung today over the shore line in the form of a dense fog which saw three trawlers aground, another drifting helplessly in the fog, and all coastwise steamer traffic held up pending clearer conditions.

With visibility in Boston harbor practically zero, the trawlers Boston College and Adventure 21 went aground off Spectacle Island, but were pulled free and made the Fish Pier without serious damage.

Another fishing boat, the Quincy, was taken in tow by the Coast Guard cutter Cayuga, after she had drifted with crippled engines for several hours.

Another trawler, the Queen Mary, was hauled off a bar near Woods End by coast guard picket boats from the Woods End station.

Both the New York and Nantucket steamers were delayed by the fog, and stood outside the harbor waiting for the mist to lift.

SHOWERS PROMISED

Only relief from the 106-year record dreuth in New England was promised by predicted scattered thundershowers. Department of Agriculture experts declared that only a three-day soaking rain could save hay and truck crops.

"Generally fair, followed by scattered thundershowers" was the official prediction, as farmers despaired of saving their crops, and some water-power mills feared the necessity of a shutdown.

At two points near Haverhill it was possible to walk dry-shod across the Merrimack river bed.

Freak thunderstorms were of little help in assuaging drouth conditions. Lightning bolts struck in Framingham and Clinton, and hailstones rained on several communities, but there was little rain accompanying the storms.

ROME, July 26 (AP)—Rain with hail today broke a heat wave during which Romans experienced the hottest July in 60 years.

Snow fell in the mountains of northern Italy.

Rome's temperature fell from 104 degrees Fahrenheit to a maximum of 92. A low of 50 was recorded at Belzano.

AUTO VICTIM CRITICAL

LOWELL, July 26—Struck by an automobile, Sandra Snaill, four, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Small, of West street, was in a critical condition today at St. John's Hospital.

DROUGHT SEARS EAST—New York Times' headline today tells the story of drought sweeping the Eastern states. Weatherman sees possible thunderstorms tomororw, however.

Squalus Dead As 'Character Witnesses'

Navy heroes who lost their lives in the sinking of the submarine Squalus were cited today as "character witnesses" for living members of Uncle Sam's sea service.

Reference to the Squalus victims was made by Attorney John R. McVey in an argument before the Boston licensing commission.

Urging that Jacke's Restaurant, Inc., near the Charlestown Navy Yard, be granted a dancing permit, McVey bitterly criticised an alleged police claim that a "bad type of girls" would be attracted by the restaurant's U. S. sailor clientele.

"It's high time men who wear the uniform of this nation's navy cease to be regarded as scalawags," he asserted.

"Our sailors are a fine type of young fellows. Many of the heroes who went down on the submarine Squalus were in Jack's restaurant, eating and drinking with their friends, a few days before the tragic accident off the Isles of Shoals."

Philippines Post to Sayre

WASHINGTON, July 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt nominated Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Sayre today to be United States high commissioner to the Philippine Islands.

Mr. Roosevelt sent Sayre's nomination to the Senate. He replaces Paul V. McNutt, who resigned to become federal security administrator.

Sayre makes his home in Cambridge, Mass. He was the son-in-law of President Wilson.

Margot Johnson, Film Writer, Hurt in Fall

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—Margot Johnson, 28, former Hollywood movie writer, was seriously injured today in a fall from a second-story window at the Sutton place apartment of Mrs. Grace Allen Bangs, socially prominent New Yorker.

Awaits Hearing In Sea Slaying

PROVIDENCE, July 26—Charged with killing one man and seriously wounding another, Bee Swan, 42, member of the crew of the oil tanker, Dungannon, was held in the Providence County jail today to await hearing August 3.

Swan was arrested when the ship docked and was charged with killing Jesse Ortega of Port Arthur, Tex., and wounding Robert E. Dean of New Orleans. At the arraignment, he pleaded not guilty to the two charges.

Look closely-you know this family!

They're not rich—if you count wealth in money. But they are rich in the things that make happiness. In thoughtfulness. In kindliness. In consideration for each other. In those things in life that can't be bought.

This busy, active age may take them many, many miles apart. The Son to work in another city. The Father on business trips or Mother on little visits to friends and relatives living some distance away. It is possible that the Daughter may marry and live out-of-town.

Miles apart they will be close together in spirit. By telephone they can keep in touch with home and with each other frequently. For out-of-town telephone rates are thrifty by day and especially cheap evenings after 7 and all day Sunday.

Look closely again. You know this family. Isn't it perhaps your own?

AND HERE'S A FAMILY YOU MAY NOT KNOW

The Bell System is a big family of 292,000 people that help you keep in touch with friends and relatives wherever they may be. Its purpose is to provide you the best telephone service in the world at the lowest possible cost. In fundamental research, in centralized manufacture, and in the operation of a nation-wide telephone system each member works closely with the others to make this possible.

BRITISH, RED PACT SEEN NEAR

LONDON, July 26 (AP)—The British government has sent new instructions to its diplomats in Moscow, Prime Minister Chamberlain told Commons today. He added that he expected to make a statement early next week on the Moscow negotiations for a British-French-Russian mutual assistance pact.

This announcement, coupled with optimistic reports in official circles, led to the belief that the government hoped to be able soon to announce conclusion of such a pact.

Chamberlain would neither deny nor confirm reports that Britain and France had agreed to begin staff talks with Russia without waiting for conclusion of the projected pact.

These quarters said British and French missions probably would leave for Moscow within ten days.

New instructions sent to Sir William Seeds, British envoy to Moscow, informed quarters said, were to agree to immediate staff talks. Since Russia has demanded this all along, there was held to be little doubt that the proposal would be accepted.

Great Britain and France are becoming the laughing stock of the world "by their crawling on the ground" before Russia, German Propaganda Minister Goebbels' Berlin newspaper Der Angriff said today of the report that British and French military missions would go to Moscow.

Japan Steps Up Naval Manpower

TOKYO, July 26 (AP)—Confident that the central Chinese government would receive no more help from Britain to oppose the "new order in East Asia," Japan today stepped up her naval manpower, apparently with an eye on Soviet Russia.

The admiralty called naval reservists to active duty while Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai, naval minister, disclosed organization of a new squadron which soon will begin "special maneuvers" with the combined imperial fleet.

Neutral naval experts expressed belief that the call to reservists, bringing an estimated 1500 to the colors, and the fleet reinforcement probably resulted from friction between Japan and Russia over Sakhalin island oil and coal concessions.

Extensive Nazi Sub Maneuvers

BERLIN, July 26 (AP)—Extensive submarine maneuvers in the Baltic in which five of Germany's seven submarine flotillas participated and during which several convoyed ships were "sunk" were reported today in Berlin newspapers.

By HENRY L. DAILY

Ask Ferdinand G. Brabant what he thinks of the Red Sox today.

Ferdinand spent the day at the double-header of the Red Sox and the Chicago White Sox as guest of the Boston Evening American, and not only saw them win both games but had the time of his life.

If you fail to remember, Mr. Brabant is the gentleman who stirred things up a bit at the Bees' ball park last Saturday afternoon and drew as a reward from Judge Connolly in Brighton court a most unusual "sentence" of not being allowed to attend another game at the Swamp's headquarters.

So we took him out to Fenway Park. He is an extremely mild mannered person. But he knows his baseball. He knows the players as well. He yelled and cheered for the Red Sox and when the games were over he beamed a smile and said:

"They always win when I come out to see them.

"There's Teddy Williams", he said to me, when Teddy first came to bat. "Look he's tall and lanky, but Oh Boy how he can hit."

He clapped his hands when Grove made his first appearance at the plate. He was sorry Jimmy Tabor didn't get a home run. He was keenly interested over an argument with the umpire as to whether or not it was a home run.

FRAISES TABOR

"You want to watch that Tabor throw the ball. That one you just saw was easy for him. You just want to see him throw when he is in a hurry," he said.

"You know that Tabor plays third base," he said to me. "Gee, he's got a great arm."

"Did you see that catch Williams just made, what a pip that was. Look at his long legs. He's a fine ball player," he said. And all through the afternoon he lauded, yelled, clapped his hands and cheered long and loud for a double Red Sox victory and he was rewarded to his heart's content when Doerr and Foxx tied the score in the ninth and Jimmy Tabor batted in the winning run to give the Yawkeys a well deserved double win.

"I always liked the Red Sox and I think they will win the pennant. As a matter of fact I like all ball players. I was rooting for Cronin to hit that home run in the first game and I wanted to see Jimmy Foxx and Teddy Williams hit one in the second. They are a great crowd of boys and you may rest assured I'll be out every chance I get to cheer for them."

MODEST YOUNG MAN

But let me tell you something of Mr. Brabant. He is most modest, inclined to be a trifle shy. He is an outdoor young man. Brown as a berry. He is a former umpire in the Suburban League, horseshoe champion of Woburn, manager of the soft ball team and president of the Mishawum Athletic Association. He is employed by the Consolidated Chemical Industries, Inc., of North Woburn and extremely well liked.

He lives in a modest apartment at 10 Prospect avenue, Woburn, with his wife and son.

He was formerly a professional boxer, leaving the ring when he was counted out by a serious operation.

"Gee, I would love to go to ball game, but I don't know whether I can get off or not. You see I lost half a day Monday when I had to go to court. I'll see what my boss says," was his reply to my invitation to be the guest of the American for an afternoon.

So I went with him to see the boss, who by the way is a very young man to have such heavy responsibilities on his shoulders.

"Sure he can go. He's a regular feller." So he went.

We had a good lunch, pop corn, peanuts, hot dogs, soda pop, a ride in a taxi-cab and everything that a feller would want, when he goes to see a ball game.

When we parted at the North Station I said to him: "Did you have a good time Ferd?"

"You bet I did, thanks to the Boston American," he replied. "I had one of the greatest days in my whole life."

Court Frees She-Husband

PASADENA, Cal., July 26 (AP)—Minerva Phipps, 47, whose arrest interrupted a 23-year masquerade as a man, was free today of charges that she impersonated her dead husband because a judge decided that he was not "in any way injured."

"I hope I shall always be able to wear them," the deep-voiced, husky chauffeur said, referring to the male garments in which she appeared in court.

Her husband was killed in an automobile accident. Soon after his death she began to pose as a man and was "married" to another woman before Mrs. Radcliffe. The first "wife" died.

Watch for Mars Tomorrow Night

It has a North Pole and a South Pole. Criss-crossing its surface, in what appears to be a monster geometric design, are lines which may be canals. Changes on its surface indicate the seasonal growth of vegetation. However, it all seems so dry that if life exists, it must be in some modified form.

So speculates science, and, tomorrow night, for the first time in 15 years, Mars, that reddish disc in the Southeastern sky, will be as close ever it will come to the earth, a mere 36,000,000 miles away.

How near this is to men of science is indicated by the fact that just a year ago, because of the swing of the orbits of Mars and the earth around the sun, the planet was 237,230,000 miles away.

And so, tomorrow night, on mountain peaks, in observatories, on lonely islands men will strain their eyes towards the reddish enigma, seeking to amplify the world's knowledge of its neighbor, and cousin.

And, as they dream, here are some of the questions which will surge through their minds:

Is there life on Mars? Are there beings comparable to those we know as men? Is there animal life in fantastic, uncouth forms? Are the plants and trees, if there are plants and trees, of a size, shape and being of a type beyond our comprehension?

If there are beings comparable to men, what are their social problems? Have they been solved? Do they worry about such things as old age security? Do they know metal as we know it? Radio? Telegraphy? Television? Do they fly in machines like we do? Do they have something similar to our automobiles for locomotion? Do they have rocket planes?

Might there one day be an invasion such as Orson Welles fantastically predicted last year?

In 1924, when the orbits swung together as they will Thursday night, radio stations of that period reported untraceable signal. This time definite effort will be made to pick up any sounds that any Martians might be trying to send to us, or might be making themselves—if they have something like our radio.

Between 10:30 and 11:30 that night, Radio Station WOR will try to pick up signals. Forty powerful receivers, with directional antennae, will be trained on the red disc, and experts from the Hayden Planetarium will be there to help. The regular radio short wave sendors will be asked to keep off the air during the period.

Everyone reading this can dream a little, too. Look off into the Southeast tonight, and tomorrow night. Spot the reddish star—all the others are bluish white—and, then, ponder on that dreams, the unsolved drama of the heavens.

Lottery Racket Men Offer to 'Tell All'

Dealers who sold fake lottery tickets and who now face indictment as a federal grand jury probes the $20,000,000 nation-wide racket were reported today to be attempting to make "deals" for their freedom.

"Take care of us and we'll spill what we know," was their promise to the federal men, the Boston American learned, as a parade of 15 witnesses from all over America appeared at the grand jury hearing room in the Boston Federal Building.

CORRIDOR CLEARED

The wide 300-foot corridor leading to the grand jury room was so crowded with witnesses, police officers and racketeers that Assistant United States Attorney Jackson J. Holtz ordered it cleared.

Included among today's witnesses was police inspector C. W. Sterling of St. Louis, Mo., in which city federal agents recently confiscated 14,000 fake Derby tickets retailing at 50 cents, $1 and $2 each.

Others were Inspectors Joseph Poulit and Walter Sucoso of Manchester, N. H., Assistant Postmaster Paul Martin and Police Captain John C. White, both of New Haven, and men from Biddeford, Burlington and Bangor.

POLICE HEADS APPEAR

Lieutenant Inspectors Paul V. Crowley and John Donovan of Boston police appeared, with Inspectors Michael Curley of Milwaukee and James Dooley of Detroit.

Post Office Inspector Tennyson Jefferson went into the hearing room laden with an infinitesimal part of the five tons of evidence the government has piled up.

Mrs. Will Rogers, widow of the famous comedian, has already appeared as one of the more than 500 witnesses summoned, and Owen D. Young is expected tomorrow.

REJOICE AS CLERIC IS FREED

Farley Sails, Hands Free for '40 Battle

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 26 (INS)—Postmaster General James A. Farley sailed for Europe today secure in his cabinet post, opposed to a third term for President Roosevelt and free, on his return, to support any good Democrat for the presidency in 1940.

The President himself sounded the deathknell to a New Deal "palace guard" campaign to oust Farley from his cabinet as a preliminary move to driving him out of the Democratic national chairmanship.

In reply to direct questions at his press conference, the President called it "tommy-rot" to suggest Braintruster Thomas G. Corcoran could oust Farley from his national chairmanship and added that Farley "unquestionably" would remain in the cabinet on returning from Europe.

OPPOSES THIRD TERM

On top of this, Farley's friends say he told the President respectfully but firmly at their historic Hyde Park conference that he could not support Mr. Roosevelt for a third term.

This declaration, they add, leaves him free to support any other good Democrat—save one—for the presidential nomination next year. The sole exception, say Farleyites, is the federal security administrator, Paul V. McNutt of Indiana.

Farley's associates believe he also told Mr. Roosevelt of his unalterable opposition to McNutt as the 1940 standard-bearer.

While the President derided the "Corcoran trying to oust Farley from the chairmanship" story as "tommy-rot," insiders know that Corcoran actually launched a campaign among New Dealers with this objective as a goal. Farley knew of it too.

The "palace guard" plan was to embarrass Farley to the extent of forcing his resignation from the cabinet. Then, they believed, he would be compelled to obtain employment with a big corporation in order to make a suitable living for his family, since he is in very modest circumstances.

Then, the plan projected, they could launch a new move to drive him from the chairmanship on the ground he was a "tool of the interests," while serving as chairman of the New Deal party.

ARABS 'USED ME FINE' SAYS FREED PASTOR

JERUSALEM, July 26 (AP)—The Rev. Gerould Goldner tossed in fitful sleep—his first real rest in over a week—today, no longer the prisoner of a nomad Arab band.

Dr. Jacob Goldner, father of the young Ohio preacher, obtained his son's release for "somewhere between $1300 and $2800." He disclosed today that the ransom had ben paid directly to the kidnapers.

Young Goldner knew nothing of the frantic efforts to secure his release or of the attention directed to the bizarre kidnaping in the Moab hills.

With his captors he had lived the life of a Bedouin, changing headquarters each morning and evening, for the kidnapers feared their prize might be "hijacked" by a stronger band.

Although exhausted and suffering from illness as a result of eating tribal food, Goldner said on his return to the Holy City last night that his captors "treated me fine—but there was once or twice when things came to a close shave, and I thought the end was near."

RESCUED BOY ON 100-MILE HOSPITAL TRIP

SHERMAN, Me., July 26—Weak and emaciated after his victorious eight-day fight for life in the Mt. Katahdin wilderness, 12-year-old Donn Fendler, Rye, N. Y., boy scout, was tenderly placed in a canoe here today for a trip of nearly 100 miles, by river and highway, to a Bangor hospital.

The route over which he was to be taken lay down the forest-lined east branch of the Penobscot river to the lake town of Grindstone, 15 miles away.

There, on the Millinocket-Houlton highway, an auto ambulance waited.

MOTHER AWAITS HIM

And waiting, too, was Donn Fendler's mother, almost overcome with joy at her son's escape from death on the fog-wrapped mountainside.

Mrs. Fendler spent the night in Sherman. She hoped to meet Donn in Grindstone, possible, on his way down river.

Dr. Ernest T. Young, who attended the boy after he finally staggered out of the woods and was brought to the camp of veteran guide Nelson McMorrin, ordered the youthful patient's removal to the hospital.

Somewhat rested and strengthened by a night's sleep in a warm soft bed and by the liquid food he was allowed to take, 12-year-old Donn appeared quite a different boy from the one who half-stumbled, half-crawled to the river bank here from the McMorrin camp yesterday.

ON WAY TO RECOVERY

He was all but naked then, bruised and scratched from head to foot, tortured and poisoned by insect bites.

His hoarse, desperate calls for help sounded to Guide McMorrin "like an owl hooting."

Today, however, nursed by mother, Mrs. McMorrin and under treatment by Dr. Young, Donn was fast becoming his normal, cheerful self.

He even objected to being carried to the canoe which was to take him down river.

"Aw, I can walk," he protested.

And he meant it, too even though his feet, cut and swollen and [illegible] were so sore he could hardly bear to touch them to the ground.

They had carried him through more than 35 miles of "impassable" wilderness. So——

"I guess I'm no baby. I guess I can walk as far as that canoe," young Fendler said.

Of course, they didn't let him walk. He was wrapped in a blanket and carried on Guide McMorrin's shoulder.

"Got to feed you up, youngster," the big woodsman commented. "Right now, from the heft of you, you're only skin and bones."

State Fire Warden Owen Grant paddled the canoe in which the rescued boy rode. Dr. Young was also a passenger.

In a second canoe traveled [illegible] Donald Fendler, father of the boy, and Dr. Arthur Ryan, both of Yonkers, N. Y., with Guide McMorrin [illegible].

Donald Fendler, the boy's father, was in the hospital at Bangor, [illegible] from [illegible] received during the week-long search for his son.

It was to that same hospital—the Eastern Maine General—that Dr. Young ordered 12-year-old Donn taken.

Weakened condition of the boy and fear of possible infection from his cuts and insect bites influenced the doctor in his decision.

GREAT JOY OVER RESCUE

Meanwhile news of Donn Fendler's safety was being hailed with almost incredulous joy, all over the north country.

Veteran woodsmen were astounded [illegible] how [illegible] the boy's endurance had brought him safely through a terrain where older and more experienced persons have lost their lives, and where only the most skilled in knowledge of the mountains hazards will venture.

Since the boy failed to return with his hiking party eight days ago, one of the greatest hunts in the state's history had been organized, the searchers penetrating the mountain wilderness day and night.

Local woodsmen and hunters, volunteers from scores of towns, Boy Scouts and Civilian Conservation Corps workers joined the hunt.

Barrows on vacation at the World's Fair in San Francisco, came an order [illegible] Wednesday, detailing [illegible] scene of the search from New York state, had earlier plunged [illegible] were found footprints which failed [illegible] so near the dangerous ravine, that [illegible] the searchers to fear the boy [illegible]

Lost Boy Tells Own Story of Suffering

The only water I could find was in puddles among the rocks, greenish stuff and it tasted bitter. I remember from my Boy Scout training that I ought not to drink that kind of water, so I only wet my lips a little.

I came across some clear springs later and had a good drink. But afterward I had to take water from pools again. I guess [illegible]

SAW TWO BEARS

The lower I went into the woods, the worse the bugs got. Pretty soon I was [illegible] scratches and bruises.

One day—three days ago, I think—I saw two bears just as I was eating some berries. They seemed to be eating berries, too, from a bush right next to mine. I was scared stiff, but they [illegible] more frightened I guess and we ran in opposite directions.

Quite often I saw smaller animals and birds that made me jump when they ran in front of me.

One morning, I remembered I ought to climb a tree to look for signs of a path or help. I was lucky that I did, because quite a [illegible]

A little later, I found a [illegible] brook. Once I learned in [illegible] meeting that people who are lost should follow brooks toward their mouths, so I trailed this one. It [illegible] Though [illegible] I stumbled into the water.

I wanted to light a fire, but I had thrown my matches away because they were wet. I spent all one morning trying to smash rocks together for sparks to light some grass and sticks. It didn't work though.

THE HARDYS HERE AGAIN IN MOST AMUSING FILM

After dude ranching, vacationing and going big-town in Detroit and Washington, D. C. in their six earlier pictures, the typically American Hardy Family move back to their home town, Carvel, for the lucky seventh Hardy Family hit, "Andy Hardy Gets Spring Fever," opening tomorrow at both Loew's State and Orpheum theaters.

This new picture is the most amusing of them all. Mickey Rooney, as the All American boy, becomes a playwright and amateur stage star and complicates the hilarious plot by proposing marriage and elopement to his pretty high school dramatics teacher.

While air castles tumble at Andy's feet, Judge Hardy, portrayed by Lewis Stone, also has his troubles when a pair of smooth swindlers almost fleece him and other leading citizens of Carvel of all their savings until the judge stumbles upon a successful plan to recoup their combined losses.

Besides Stone and Rooney, the entire Hardy Family group remains intact, including Fay Holden as Mrs. Hardy, Cecilia Parker as Andy's sister, Marian Shockley as Aunt Milly and Ann Rutherford as Andy's girl friend, Polly Benedict.

A new and most important addition to the cast is that of Ian Hunter, who is cast as Andy's teacher. For this fine actor this role is a most welcome change.

Also in Hardy Manor were Sara Haden as Aunt Milly, Virginia Weidler as Marian's friend, Beverly Tyler, Dickie Jones as Dick Hardy, Mickey Kuhn as Joe Hardy, Helen Ericson as Lucille Watson, Lana Turner as Cynthia Kenyon, Gene Reynolds as Jackie Hardy, Cy Kendall as Mr. Crane, Ralph Morgan as Mr. Chalmers, Lloyd Corrigan as Mr. Benedict, Ray Hanley as Mr. Watson, Frank Orth as Mr. Wilkins, Addison Richards as Mr. Carter, Jonathan Hale as Mr. Lockridge, Jean Ames as Miss Dale, Jerry Tucker as Billy Dixon, Jimmy Butler as Bob Benedict, Tommy Bupp as Tommy Watson, Jimmy Lydon as Beezy Lockridge, Bobby Jordan as Bobby Crane, Mary Lee as Mary Lockridge, Ann Gillis as Betty Benedict, Jean Porter as Jean Wilkins, Jackie Horner as Jackie Carter, Bobby Larson as Bobby Benedict, Dorothy Peterson as Mrs. Benedict, Mary Forbes as Mrs. Lockridge, Mary Field as Mrs. Watson, Mary Treen as Mrs. Wilkins, Mary Gordon as Mrs. Crane, Mary Howard as Mrs. Carter, Ann Doran as Mrs. Dixon, Ann Shoemaker as Mrs. Kenyon, Ann Morrison as Miss Perkins, Ann Rutherford as Polly Benedict, Ralph Remley as Mr. Dixon, Ralph Peters as Mr. Kenyon, Ralph Byrd as Mr. Watson, Jr., Ralph Graves as Mr. Carter, Jr., Ralph Lewis as Mr. Crane, Jr., Ralph Sanford as Mr. Lockridge, Jr., Ralph Forbes as Mr. Benedict, Jr., Ralph Bellamy as Mr. Wilkins, Jr., Ralph Morgan as Mr. Chalmers, Jr., Ralph Remley as Mr. Dixon, Jr., Ralph Peters as Mr. Kenyon, Jr.,

'KISS BOYS GOODBYE' GRAND FUN

By PEGGY DOYLE

Clare Boothe's racy comedy, "Kiss the Boys Goodbye," with Helen Claire, Benay Venuta and four other members of the original New York cast, was given its first performance in the vicinity of Boston last night at Marblehead.

It was a 100 per cent victory for the South, with every damyankee in the capacity house going overboard for that honeychile, Cindy Lou, as Miss Claire portrays her.

"Kiss the Boys Goodbye", which opened on Broadway and ran for 50 successful weeks, has boxoffice oomph no end. Possibly the best entertainment value on the straw-hat circuit, it reeks with humor and satire and is certain to rock any theater any time with continuous laughter.

Last night's sun-kissed playgoers let some of the bobbles get past them, which is something City Censor Spencer doubtless will not be guilty of when and if the towering Block Bought-on production finds hospice here in [illegible].

As you probably know, "Kiss the Boys Goodbye," which is Miss Boothe's second superbly successful dramatic effort (Remember, 'The Women'?), takes a crack at practically everything, including all sorts of men, but most particularly Hollywood's late, lamented search for a Scarlett O'Hara in the you-know-what pic[illegible].

Involved are Lloyd Lloyd, a Hollywood director whose burping is most inopportunely timed. [illegible] first approximate [illegible] and vocal dimensions of Heywood Broun. There is a prod[illegible] who [illegible] must have a familiar ring for the Hollywood boys and [illegible] and a blonde movie star opportunist whose heart [illegible] to the daddy who swings a contract her way, but never [illegible].

[illegible] publicity person [illegible] who has editor [illegible]

for who has published trouble, a good-looking if not too stalwart polo player—and Cindy Lou lead the cast.

Cindy Lou, blonde and ingenious Southern girl, is brought to Westport, Conn., ostensibly to be given the producer's once-over for the Velvet O'Toole role, but actually as a decoy to steer the director's fickle sweetheart into the plum assignment.

Tirelessly quoting her congressman-father, Cindy Lou, flirting a parasol and yards and yards of limity ruffles and black velvet bows, gets off such things as President Roosevelt taught the people the futility of grubbing for money, Daddy says." Or "My Daddy says we should give ourselves if you rich men would give yourself to Roosevelt you'd find the peace that passeth all understanding."

The audience laughed and laughed.

She goes into a "snit," South'n for a pet or tantrum, and she "has a slight gin," otherwise a snort of straight corn liquor. In one of her somersaults Cindy Lou [illegible] throughout [illegible] end finally [illegible] the [illegible]

KEEP U. S. OUT OF WAR
—Be Neutral—

A SPLENDID PAGE in American history was written at the White House a few days ago when the United States Senate, through its spokesmen, served notice on Mr. Roosevelt of its unalterable determination to keep the power to declare war in the hands of Congress—acting with the President—where that power has been placed by the Constitution.

That is the heart and core of the issue raised by Mr. Roosevelt when he demanded revision of the existing neutrality law, and the repeal of the mandatory arms embargo.

Repeal of the mandatory arms embargo under existing circumstances would have the effect of a deliberate grant of power to the President to TAKE SIDES in any war, according to a choice which he alone might make.

Mr. Roosevelt's "quarantine" speech at Chicago, and his pro-[illegible] preceded by the Congress in June,

JOHN N. GARNER, WM. BANKHEAD, SAMUEL RAYBURN
After their parley with the President on neutrality.

served notice upon Congress that the President ALREADY HAS TAKEN SIDES as between the prospective belligerents.

Hence the House of Representatives wisely amended the Soil Bloom anti-neutrality resolution, and the Senate, through its foreign relations committee, even more wisely decided to postpone all action on this question at the present session of the Congress.

THE PRESIDENT in vain has sought to reverse this wise and patriotic decision, a decision in which members of his own party, placing country before party, participated.

An Associated Press dispatch from London, under date of July 19, gives to what actually happened at the White House this grave misinterpretation:

"British leaders were officially silent today, but obviously disappointed by President Roosevelt's decision to abandon his fight for revision of the neutrality law during the present session of Congress."

If that is the conception in European foreign offices of what happened at the White House conference, European statesmen are in danger of falling into the same fatal error which obsessed the minds of French and British politicians at Versailles, when they could not be made to understand that Woodrow Wilson could not make a treaty without the consent of the Senate.

Mr. Roosevelt has made no decision to "abandon his fight."

The whole point of what happened lies in the fact that THE SENATE MADE THE DECISION.

British and French statesmen will do well to reflect that from now on they are not dealing with the President of the United States alone, but with the co-ordinate treaty-making power, under the Constitution.

British statesmen should be able to comprehend this since England has already very drastically deprived its Royal ruler of the right to act without the approval of Parliament.

THE EMANCIPATED CONGRESS is now free to deal in its wisdom with any emergency which may arise by war anywhere on earth. It retains its initiative.

This country remains neutral, with the power of peace and war in the hands of Congress where it belongs.

When Mr. Roosevelt, at the momentous White House conference, placed the responsibility for what had happened upon the Senate, he placed it PRECISELY WHERE IT BELONGS UNDER THE CONSTITUTION.

And that grand and grim American, William E. Borah, instantly accepting the President's challenge in words worthy to be quoted by future generations of Americans with the noblest phrases of Webster and Clay:

"OF COURSE THE RESPONSIBILITY MUST REST WITH THE SENATE. WE ARE A CO-ORDINATE BRANCH OF THE LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT AND WE HAVE NOT YET ACTED. THERE CAN BE NO DISPUTE ABOUT IT. WE ARE NOT OPERATING UNDER HITLER YET."

European statesmen will do well to ponder those significant words of a real American.

At the Doorway

ALERT, within the doorway, half curious, half shy . . . a likely little bright-eyed lad regards the passers-by . and strangers pause upon their way to speak to him the while . . . and he returns their friendly words, returning smile for smile. . . . He gazes on his little world amused, expectantly . . . wondering just what kind of world this world can be.

We also in Life's doorway stand, and if our attitude . . . is one of cheer and confidence, life too seems rainbow-hued. . . . For those who face life with a smile will very often find . . . that life itself returns the smile and compliment in kind.

LIBBY HOLMAN MAPS DRAMA CAREER

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, July 26—A BROADWAY NOCTURNE: "... and our first stop will be New Orleans. ... You want to go to Europe? ... No, dear, I said ... What? ... New Orleans will be too hot for you! ... Well, it won't be too hot for you. After all, you've even MET Huey Long.

11 P. M.: "The wife of one of the world's greatest sporting figures," a producer informs at Cotton Club, "is going to Reno this week." "Paul Whiteman may retire soon," a bandleader assures at Moore's. "One of the radio chains is offering him an attractive salary, to become its Musical Director."

12 P. M.: "I was dancing with Mrs. Homer S. Cummings," Fredric March states at the Tavern. "She's much shorter than I am, and very witty. When I bent my head down so that I wouldn't miss what she was saying, some one snapped our picture, and the magazines have been using that picture, saying we were dancing cheek-to-cheek."

Play Togs for Larger Ladies

By ANNICE BRINK

THERE'S a considerable group of women in America who just dread vacation time. Pictures of Apollo-strewn beaches and fetching girls in shorts just give them a summer inferiority complex.

These are the women whose sizes come in the upper brackets. They would love to be as comfortable as the 34's, but most of them feel that they must forego coolness and ocean dips because they wear 46 or 50.

So we give attention to the problem of the middleweights and heavyweights. There is a shop in Boston that caters to them, and has some play suits and bathing suits that are smart, comfortable and flattering. Three cheers!

A new trick for beating the temperature, we hear, is wearing a play suit for a house dress. If the bell rings, or you want to do the marketing you just button on the skirt and your costume is complete.

These play suits for big girls are the answer for the problem of keeping cool while cooking the dinner. They are cut with plenty of shoulder room, and the shorts button onto the blouses and down the side to make for easy donning. Skirts are generously and cleverly cut, and the prints are designed for slenderizing effect.

The bathing suits in this shop are grand. They, too, are designed especially for the larger sizes. They come in attractive cotton prints completely lined with jersey.

Prices for these are unusually low. You can buy the cotton play suits, in sizes 46 to 50, for less than two-fifty, and the bathing suit, in sizes 46 to 54, for less than four dollars.

For shopping information about these vacation clothes call Annice Brink, fashions editor, at Liberty 4000, weekdays before 5 o'clock, or write, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Love And Marriage

Thoughtless

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I work part of the day and sometimes wonder that women who have no children fail to understand that a working mother has no time for movies or going places.

Recently I was ill and in the hospital, and after I came home, even my own sister could not understand things. She would fill in her time visiting me, but never gave me a hand with the housework.

I can't help but feel aggravated about this matter and I hope I am not wrong in my judgment. Do you think childless women, those who've been married 15 or 20 years, are inclined to be selfish?

A READER

I think marriage has very little to do with the disposition in regard to selfishness. Innately selfish people are that way, whether they are married or single.

It was probably just thoughtlessness on your sister's part that she didn't offer to help you, after you had been ill in the hospital. And it's not hard to see how you feel about it. But I wouldn't cut her off from my affections on this account. Which recalls the old adage "Evil is wrought by want of thought, as well as want of heart."

New Ideas in Bread Recipes

By MARTHA LEE

IF YOURS IS THE FAMILY that demands man-sized breakfasts in the summer as well as winter, and you're running low on ideas, maybe a variety of bread recipes would help.

Poached eggs on French toast give a homely fare an entirely new personality. Try creamed chicken on buttered bran muffins instead of toast for a really delicious breakfast.

And remember, a group of spread to select from is always better than one old standby, no matter how well the family likes it. There is a new marmalade—carrot mar-molas—that is especially recommended. It's so tasty and so economical to prepare that in many households there are always several jars in the refrigerator.

To top off the meal try a sweet bun or coffee cake with lots of hot coffee, and there will be no complaints about your breakfasts being routine affairs.

FRENCH TOAST

1 egg
1 cup milk
8 slices of bread
Pinch of salt
1 tbsp. molasses

Beat egg, milk, salt and molasses together. Dip slices of bread, covering each side thoroughly with the mixture. Fry until golden brown.

BRAN MUFFINS

2 cups graham flour
1½ cups bran
2 tbsp. sugar
¾ tsp. salt
1¾ tsp. soda
1 beaten egg
½ cup New Orleans molasses
2 tbsp. melted butter
½ cup nut meats
¼ cup raisins
2 cups sour milk

Mix well flour, bran, sugar, soda; beat sour milk, egg, molasses, melted butter together; combine mixtures. Blend quickly and lightly and in nuts, raisins; fill greased muffin pans 2/3 full; bake in hot oven (425 deg. F.) 15 to 20 minutes. Makes 18 muffins.

CARROT MAR MOLAS

2 cups grated raw carrot
¼ cup New Orleans molasses
1 cup sugar
2 lemons

Mix carrot, lemon juice and rind of one lemon, grated; add sugar, molasses; heat slowly till sugar dissolves; cook till thick; stir often. Fill sterilized jars; when cool cover with melted paraffin. Apples and chopped nuts may be substituted for carrots or blended with them. Makes six glasses.

BRAN COFFEE CAKE

1 cup flour
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. soda
2 tsp. baking powder
2 cups bran
2 well-beaten eggs
1 cup sweet milk
6 tbsp. molasses
3 tbsp. melted shortening
¾ cup raisins

Mix and sift flour; salt, soda, baking powder; add bran; add eggs, milk, molasses; stir, add shortening, raisins. Fill greased pan; sprinkle top with cinnamon and sugar mixed. Bake 30 minutes in moderate oven (350 deg. F.). If served warm, tear gently apart with fork. Delicious for breakfast.

Business Talks in Plainer Language

American business is improving its mode of self-expression. Heretofore the curse of corporate communications to stockholders and customers was that they tended to produce boredom. The public yawned when big business spoke . . .

But this . . . rapidly changing. Until recently, corporate expression tended to be . . . sense of dignity . . .

Now men are learning that intimacy and human interest may be more important than stiffness . . . example, General Electric . . . or equates itself as One . . . the "friendly symbol."

Getting away from . . . tions of dignity, 130 public . . . corporations are expressing . . . views through a symbolic . . . character who dramatizes electric energy . . .

Business executives, in . . . ing at length that public relations has been the number one . . . of corporate affairs, are modernizing their notions about the techniques of self-expression . . .

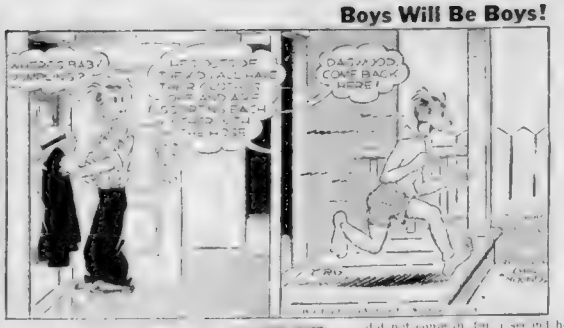
Boys Will Be Boys!



THE Runaway

by KATHLEEN NORRIS

"Gavin, I'll bet these bills total up to three hundred or more," she said.

THE MONTHS WENT BY, and she was still pondering, still puzzled. She had been a giddy, carefree creature at this time last year, surrounded by persons all loving Becky Gibson, ill means to make her ill and crazy. Now all that was gone, and she was there face with a handsome careless, selfish man who was neither kind nor indeed to her.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It just decays in the bowels, and poisons your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sick and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Only 25 cents. Druggists everywhere. Refuse anything else.

NOW! A NEW LOAN PLAN

Pick your own monthly repayment

You can borrow from $20 to $300 without asking others to sign with you. Decide on the amount of cash you need, then choose the payment which suits your budget. You repay in 2 to 20 months as your income permits. Below is a table showing sample repayment schedules. Other amounts and other plans are available. Note how you may repay your loan in a very few months or keep the cost to a minimum. Note, also, what small payments can be made if you wish.

Cash Loan You Get	Amount you pay back, each month (including all charges) for following periods: 2 mos.	4 mos.	6 mos.	8 mos.	10 mos.	12 mos.	16 mos.	20 mos.
$ 50	$25.94	$13.29	$ 9.08	$ 6.97	$ 5.71	$ 4.87
100	51.88	26.58	18.15	13.95	11.41	9.75	$ 7.66	$ 6.41
150	77.82	39.87	27.23	20.92	17.14	14.62	11.49	9.63
200	103.77	53.16	36.31	27.89	22.85	19.50	15.32	12.83
300	155.65	79.75	54.47	41.84	34.28	29.25	22.98	19.24

This table based on prompt repayment. Payments may be made in a few months or over a longer period if you wish. Interest charged only on the unpaid balance of principal each month, as you pay it off. Payments rounded to nearest dime, with final payment adjusted to balance. Larger loans, etc., on request.

Lion-Teasing Cops!

4 Have Fun, But Leo Laughs Last

ST. PAUL, July 26 (AP)—Tsk! Tsk!

Things have come to a pretty pass in the St. Paul police department.

Think of three patrolmen being suspended and another getting a demerit for teasing a lion.

But such is the case. Walter Grun is off for 30 days, Peter Barrett for 10 and Hugo Keller for 5, while George Bowne got a demerit.

They all admitted being in Como Park, Grun said:

"I saw a rubber slingshot just outside the bars (of the lion's cage), so trying to pick it up, I pushed it closer to the lion, which grasped the wooden crotch in its teeth.

"I grabbed again and the rubber snapped the lion's mouth."

That made the lion very angry and there was much roaring around. While Grun was playing this tug of war, Bowne admitted being present and got a demerit for that. Barrett and Keller were punished for not stopping Grun from trying to deprive the lion of its plaything.

Furthermore, said Chief of Police Clinton Hackett, there was another complaint. The officers weren't even supposed to be in the park. Park police kicked about that.

Appling. Appling threw out Foxx. NO RUNS.

SECOND INNING

WHITE SOX—Walker tripled. Appling grounded out to Foxx, Walker scoring. McNair singled. Tresh was thrown out by Cronin and McNair was doubled up going to third, Foxx to Tabor. ONE RUN.

RED SOX—Williams swung so hard at the first pitch that he lost his bat on the follow-through. The bat slipped out of his hand and sailed all the way from the plate over the roof of the Red Sox dugout and into the picket stands. He then put to Hayes who threw him out. Cronin flied to Appling. Vosmik doubled. Tabor singled scoring Vosmik. Peacock flied to Walker. ONE RUN.

At noon there were more than 1000 in line, with a horde of newcomers arriving.

The pre-dawn arrivals whiled away the waiting hours whittling down and, of course, finally obliterating that New York advantage.

These optimists (?) found it an easy job, too. You see, they had either witnessed or heard all about the Tuesday happenings which convinced not only them but the entire baseball world that nothing is beyond the powers of a club as hot as the Hub Hose.

WILSON TO HURL

And the milkmen, baker boys, gendarms and other steady nightowls who frequent the vicinity of Jersey street heard so many words of praise of Joe Cronin, Jimmy Foxx, Bobby Doerr, Ted Williams et al that they decided to pass up daytime dozing to get a peak at this wonder club.

They didn't give a care and thought to the pitching selections. They guessed that the Fenway flingers have done a grand and glorious job of late but they held to the logical theory that it is the fireworks in the bats of the Fenway fence-busters that is keeping the Clan up there and giving the Yanks the jitters.

Such dynamite, for instance, as the Yankees exploded yesterday to celebrate their home coming. Such dynamite as fashioned 26 hits, including four home runs, in 18 innings. Such dynamite as blasted the White Sox to their first double-defeat of the season after the visitors had twice tied the score against Mose Grove in the first game and carried a 5 to 3 lead into the ninth frame of the nightcap.

It will be years before any of the surprising audience of 20,000 tires of talking about it.

They had worn rose-colored glasses throughout the first game as the pitching of Grove and the hitting of Cronin and Williams spelled a 4 to 2 win for their heroes.

They had all but conceded that their favorites, with a 34 1/2 lead, mark but only on 13-17 home stake up to yesterday, were powerless against the Fenway jinx when the White Sox scored three eighth-inning runs off Denny Galehouse to jump into a 5-3 lead.

Relief Pitcher Clint Brown, disposed of Pinch hitter Nonnenkamp, first up in the home ninth.

But he couldn't dispose of Bobby Doerr. Instead the game's greatest second-sacker deposited the ball high up in the leftfield screen for his ninth homer. One run needed to tie.

Then up stepped Foxx. Double X had hit homer No. 20 to send his mates into a two-run lead against Johnny Marcum in the first frame. He had done all that could humanly be expected of him to win this game.

But, like all the Sox, the Maryland macer is superhuman these days. From the moment that Doerr had connected, he could hear the crowd murmur: "That brings Foxx up again!"

He knew what was expected of him. He was going to produce it or break his back in the attempt. He didn't break his back.

He almost tore the high centerfield screen from its moorings with homer No. 21, a line drive that would have carried down to Kenmore square if it's flight hadn't been halted by that barrier.

Victory, inevitable now, came with nobody out in the tenth, while the ground crew was still busy picking up the straw chapeaux, seat covers, handkerchiefs et ceters that had been showered on the field in the wake of the Foxx paste.

Boss Cronin walked, a Vosmik bunt, intended as a sacrifice, turned out to be a base hit and Jimmy Tabor, who had earlier erred to hand the Pale Hose a tally, singled.

Do you wonder the lines were forming outside the Kens at dawn?

"Anything can happen if we have a successful home stay," chirped Boss Cronin as he escorted his careening charges back from their triumphant road tour.

CRONIN INSPIRES CLUB

Surely plenty happened on their first afternoon home.

Joe, himself, the same inspirational leader that wowed New York and the entire West, save Chicago, paced his hired hands to victory in the opener with a characteristic Cronin clutch performance.

His twelfth homer, in the fourth, was the first run of the matinee. He singled in the seventh to put Teddy Williams, who also had singled, in scoring position. He doubled in the eighth to rescue the third and deciding tally, also registered by Terrific Teddy, who had tripled to usher in the stanza.

In the nightcap, he stepped aside and let Messrs. Foxx, Doerr and Tabor hog the glory.

It was a twin-triumph typical of the Sox play on the road in that it was a team accomplishment rather than a one or two man show.

From the moment Bobby Doerr made a spectacular stop to rob Mike Kreevich of a hit in the first frame of the opener until Emerson Dickman gained his sixth victory by setting three batters down in order and Jim Tabor hit home the winning run in the tenth frame of the nightcap, every Red stocking was a hero.

Let them put on an encore this p. m. and nobody will question Cronin's prediction that "anything can happen."

Osmanski Invited To Play in West

ST. LOUIS, July 26 (AP)—Twenty-nine of last year's outstanding college football players have been invited to join an all-star squad which will play the professional St. Louis Gunners here Sept. 8.

The squad will begin training Aug. 19 at St. Louis University's stadium under a coaching staff to be selected later.

Players sent invitations included Bill Osmanski, Holy Cross, Worcester, Mass., back.

AGING HUBBELL, BOYISH DONALD TWIN SENSATIONS

A pair of great pitchers, one on the threshold of a brilliant career and the other in the twilight of his reign, divided the cheers of the baseball world today, according to the Associated Press.

[illegible]

Hubbell's feat was the more dramatic for when he went out there [illegible] the Cards had [illegible] the game [illegible]

For three hours [illegible] Frank Demaree finally [illegible] him with winning home runs in the 13th inning. It was only Hubbell's third win of the year, and his first complete game since mid-May.

Though he didn't have to strike [illegible] Dean's specific performance in beating the Browns, 5 to 3, served to spotlight a nice [illegible] streak. He's already set a record [illegible] consecutive wins by a [illegible] pitcher.

It's not impossible for the [illegible] from Newark to win 20 [illegible] games in his first season. He has a club behind him that can be counted upon to give [illegible] brilliant support.

REDS INCREASE LEAD

Hubbell's triumph, while spectacular, had no appreciable effect on the National League race. The Reds increased their margin to the field to 10 full games by [illegible] the Bees under the [illegible] three hits in pitching [illegible] boy of Oyama and Hoerst [illegible] provided both [illegible] run in the seventh.

Brooklyn [illegible] by knocking the Cubs off twice, 8 to 6 and 3 to 1. They scored three runs off four Wrigley pitchers in the eighth [illegible] and then took the second behind Hugh Casey's six hit pitching when Manager Durocher hit his first homer of the year with one on.

Pittsburgh scored its lucky win over the Phils, 5 to 4, the Reds and winning runs scoring [illegible] in the last of the tenth when Hugh Mulcahy uncorked a wild pitch with the bases loaded.

NAT'S TOP TIGERS

The Red Sox tightened their grip on second place in the A. with a double win over the [illegible] hanging White Sox 3 to 2 and 6 to 5.

Detroit [illegible] Cleveland [illegible] ton to a 5 to 3 decision over Detroit. The Bronchos bolster [illegible] seventh [illegible] to [illegible] part. Freddie Hutchinson, the year's most expensive rookie finally started and finished a game for the Tigers, but the seven walks he issued proved disastrous.

Cleveland [illegible] with a land- [illegible] the last inning to [illegible] Athletics 12 to 8.

How Sox Will Stand Tonight

By virtue of their double victory over the White Sox, the Red Sox gained a half game on the Yankees, who were winning a single game from the Browns. That left the Red Sox exactly seven games behind the American League leaders.

The Red Sox play two more day, the Yanks another single game with the Browns.

If the Red Sox win two today and the Yankees lose, the standings will read:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	63	28	.708
Boston	56	30	.651

If the Red Sox split and the Yankees lose, the standings will read:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	63	28	.708
Boston	55	31	.640

If the Red Sox lose two and Yankees lose, standings will be:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	63	28	.708
Boston	54	32	.628

If the Red Sox lose two and the Yankees win, the standings will read:

	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
New York	64	25	.719
Boston	54	32	.628

If Red Sox split and Yankees win, the standings will read:

Driver Starts 24-Hour Test

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, July 26 (AP)—Ab Jenkins began a 24-hour automobile speed endurance test at 6:41 a. m. (MST) (EST) today in his "Mormon Meteor 3rd."

Jenkins, holder of the world record of 157.27 miles per hour for 24 hours, hopes to set new speed records from 10 miles to the 24-hour endurance mark with his 320-horse power car.

Diz Liberated From Dog House

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—The irrepressible Dizzy Dean got out of the doghouse [illegible]

This [illegible] brawler when [illegible] boss Manager Gabby Hartnett announced Lemon would start today against the Brooklyn Dodgers. It will be his first appearance on the mound since he turned up in New York with a cut left arm while "on the road."

Hartnett sent Dizzy home at the [illegible] said [illegible] that [illegible] pitcher was in the doghouse.

MAJOR LEAGUE STARS

By Associated Press

Carl Hubbell, Giants—Allowed only two hits in last seven innings, as he pitched Giants to 6-3, 13-inning victory over Cardinals.

Leo Durocher, Dodgers—His home run with one aboard enabled Brooklyn to defeat Chicago Cubs, 3 to 1, and sweep doubleheader.

Atley Donald, Yanks—Held St. Louis Browns to five hits and scored his 12th straight victory as Yankees won, 5 to 1.

Joe Cronin, Red Sox—Drove across winning runs in first game and scored deciding tally in 10th inning of second as he sparked his club to double win over Chicago.

Ken Keltner, Indians—Hit home run, double and two singles and scored three times against Athletics.

Dutch Leonard, Senators—Held Detroit to seven hits and struck out five in scoring his 10th victory against three losses.

Harry Craft, Reds—His home run with one on beat Boston, 2 to 1, and gave Bucky Walters his 13th victory of the year.

Bank Takes Charge Of Chisox

CHICAGO, July 26 (AP)—The First National Bank of Chicago took charge today of the Chicago White Sox American League baseball team.

The will of the club's owner-president, J. Louis Comiskey, who died July 8 at his Eagle River, Wis., summer home, left his baseball holdings to the widow and three children, but with the bank as trustee, and executor, in active charge.

Comiskey bequeathed his 7400 shares in the club as follows: half in one trust to the widow, Grace, and half in three other trusts to the children, Dorothy, 22; Grace Lou, 18, and Charles A. II., now 13; and named for his grandfather, the "old Roman" founder of the club.

Comiskey directed the bank to continue control until young Charles becomes 21, when Mrs. Comiskey's 3725 shares are to be turned over to her.

Shucco Signs For Burke Bout

MILFORD, Ct., July 26 (AP)—Tony Shucco, veteran Boston welterweight, is returning to the ring in a six rounder for the first time since he suffered a leg injury, while dropping a decision to Bob Burke last April.

Shucco signed to meet Jerry Fiorino of Trenton, N. J., in the top bout of a pro-amateur card Saturday night at Walnut Beach.

BETSY—BEST BET

TAUNTON, July 26—Jimmy Hodeck has arranged the best three-eighths of a mile race of the season for tonight at the Taunton dog track.

It's the tenth and featured race with the eight best distance hounds in training, horsebouts, schedule to take the word and out of that race. I take Freddie Palermo's Betsy for my best on the card.

By JACK CONWAY

FOUR BOYS scaled a wall that landed them on the roof of the grandstand at Fenway Park. They hurried down an exit and were lost in the wild crowd that greeted Joe Cronin's team on its arrival home from the West.

This was merely one of the signs showing that the town has gone baseball crazy as the Yawkeys have surged high on the heels of the Yanks.

There was a wild whoop from the fans as Ted Williams raced into a corner between first base and right field to pull down a fly ball. There were uncontrolled cheers as the same youthful Mister Williams sent a ball crashing against the stands in right field for a triple.

There were screeches of delight as Joe Cronin, Bobby Doerr and Jimmy Foxx drove out home runs.

There was fitting recognition for old Mose Grove, Jim Tabor, Lou Finney, Joe Vosmik, Gene Desautels, Dennis Galehouse and other Red Sox heroes.

The bleacher crowd laughed and sang "Singing In the Rain" as a heavy shower beat down on it. The haze that hung over the ball field failed to annoy anybody other than possibly members of the Chicago team.

Big Crowd Surprise to Collins

THE PRESS BOX was jammed as if it were a world's series. George Carens forgot tennis to turn his hand to writing baseball. Bill Grimes hurried from a golfing trip in Maine to see the Fenway Park fireworks.

Joe Cashman, who said the Red Eox had an even chance of winning five straight games from the Yanks, looked down on the diamond from his press box perch with a twinkle in his eyes. Joe can see the Sox continuing their victory surge through the remainder of the season.

Two little urchins in overalls walked along the aisle in back of the boxes unconcerned over the ushers who were busy watching Ted Williams and Jimmy Foxx.

Out in right field some boys amused themselves tossing firecrackers on to the playing field at every possible provocation.

Eddie Collins frankly admitted he was taken by surprise as 25,000 persons stormed Fenway Park. The Red Sox management didn't think there would be more than 10,000 to 12,000 at the games. It was preparing for the big jam this afternoon, and had a chance to get into condition throwing open extra gates and manning additional ticket booths to care for the 25,000 Tuesday gathering.

Arthur Siegel forgot the fascinating "tote" board and turnstile gates at Rockingham Park as he directed his attention to long shot batters and 4-5 pitchers.

Baseball Places All on One Level

IT WAS A white shirt crowd in grandstand and bleachers. No longer do baseball fans, whether they are bankers or truck drivers, try to maintain false dignity. Baseball is a great leveller of men, and everybody got an equal thrill out of the Cronin, Doerr and Foxx home runs, and the amazing Williams.

The big crowd had so much enthusiasm and sportsmanship that it applauded Chicago plays as well as those made by the Red Sox.

Jimmy Dykes made a show of it. The great Chicago leader had his club travelling at top speed. Even when the Red Sox were out front, the pale hosed Sox refused to get discouraged. They always felt they could win, and they kept trying until the final out was made.

I couldn't keep my eyes off Williams. He is an amazing, brilliant player. Experience will smooth off his rough spots, and enable him to control the remarkable temperament that has helped him to rise to the baseball heights.

At the bat Williams is a natural hitter. He gets terrific drive behind his swings, and a snap of the wrists that sends the ball soaring against the outposts.

Ted, tall and angular, races like a young deer to get under high flies or screeching liners. His fielding weakness is ground balls. He is a bit uncertain when the ball comes at him hopping along the grass. It is easy to forget this weak spot in Ted's defense as one watches him accomplish his sensational feats at the bat and in chasing fly balls.

When Jimmy Foxx made his home runs, Ted seized the first baseman's right hand and congratulated him as he crossed the plate.

Doerr Shows Class in Field

BOBBY DOERR moved to his right and to his left with speed and sureness. He threw balls to Foxx from every angle. One could not help wonder how anybody is able to rate Flash Gordon of the Yanks above the guardian of the keystone sack for the Sox.

Lou Finney raced all over center field, and showed alertness and ability when at the bat. Even the most caustic among the fans admitted Eddie Collins purchased a winner when he paid Connie Mack $10,000 for the star utility player.

Jack Kenney, now Circulation Director of Hearst's Detroit Times, rubbed his eyes to make sure it was the Red Sox at whom he was looking. He then announced he would spend the remainder of his vacation in the press box.

Ted Bishop 36 Out In N. E. Amateur Golf

RUMFORD, R. I., July 26 (AP)—Four players, three from Massachusetts and one from Rhode Island, posted nine-hole scores of 36 as qualifying play began in the New England Amateur Golf Championship at the Wannamoisett Country Club this morning.

Ted Bishop, Lester Kennedy and Ed Peterson were the Bay Staters in the top quartet, the fourth place being filled by L. W. Patterson, Rhode Island junior champion.

Mist and fog slowed up the parched course and minimized the expected low scoring over this par 69 layout.

Other nine-hole scores included:

Ray Lenehan, Rhode Island	37
S. N. Pierson, Connecticut	37
Tommy Pierce, Vermont	37
Joe Melanson, New Hampshire	37
Edward Martin, Massachusetts	38
A. V. Ellis, Massachusetts	38
Joe Lynch, Massachusetts	38
Lionel J. Noah, Jr., Connecticut	38
Leo Martin, Massachusetts	39
Thomas J. Leonard, Jr., New Hampshire	39
Paul Sabo, Massachusetts	39
Dr. Guy S. Hayes, Massachusetts	39
Bobby Knowles, Massachusetts	40

MARY PRATT
She'll pitch tomorrow.

Mary Pratt Hurls for Pets

Mary Pratt of Wollaston, who tosses from the left side, is Coach Jack Harris' choice to try and stop the surging Spaulding Girls of Springfield when they meet the Olympets at the Gorden on tomorrow evening.

Miss Pratt is the same young lady who stepped into the box last week in the ninth inning with the bases full and none out, and yet she managed to get the side out without any runs trickling over the plate.

The Wollaston girl has hurled two games this week against the Rohoboth Milkmaids and the Worcester girls, but she seems to thrive on hard work.

The Pets have developed into a real hard hitting array after a slow start. To date the local lassies have engaged in eight contests and have emerged the winners on five occasions. The squad batting average now stands at a ripe .319.

Virginia Dagg is leading the hit parade with a sweet .473. Edna Stafford is close on the Framingham girl's heels with a .425 average, while Doe Green the Pets' towering catcher has laced the apple to the tune of .375.

Softball Teams Play 14½ Hours

WILKESBARRE, Pa., July 26 (AP)—Two softball teams played 242 innings today in 14½ hours.

The only reason they quit was the pitcher of one team—both pitchers played the whole game—decided he'd better get some sleep so he could work in an anthracite mine.

QUIST MUM ON CUP CHANCE

SEABRIGHT, N. J., July 26 (INS)—Australia's invaders can be described as hopeful but not optimistic about their chances of carting off the Davis Cup and associated silverware this year. They would rather have it come as a surprise.

Adrian Quist and Jack Crawford, the half of the team engaging in the Seabright Bowl tournament, are self-assured in bearing, but extremely conservative in forecast.

Quist today ridiculed a report that they are 2 to 1 favorites over the United States in the challenge round matches due September 2.

As a reflection of his quiet confidence Quist did not involve the usual modest phrase, "If we can get past the interzone final with Germany or Jugoslavia." He is plainly thinking ahead to the cup round.

"We'll never predict anything again after the experience we had in 1936," he said.

"We defeated the United States and went to England extremely confident that we would take the cup back home.

"I think we were favorites. We were certainly favorites in our own minds, but Great Britain gave us the shock of our lives by defeating us, 3 to 2.

"Bunny Austin, who had never been able to defeat Crawford, beat him 6-4 at time in four sets, and it taught us a permanent lesson. We'll wait until it's over before making our forecasts."

OLDTIME CHAMP DIES

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, July 26 (AP)—Torpedo Billy Murphy, 77, who in 1889 claimed the world featherweight championship, died today.

WORLD RECORD. R. Harbig, German athlete, about to break tape to set new world record for 800 meters at Milan, Italy. Harbig's time was 1:46.6. Old mark of 1:48.4 was set by Stanley Wooderson of England last year.

Crossley Shoots 69 In Practice Round

RUMFORD, R. I., July 26 (AP)—While a majority of the 89 entered in the New England amateur tournament, which starts at the Wannamoisett Country Club here today, played practice rounds in the sweltering heat yesterday, it remained for Wilfred Crossley, the defending champion, to provide the fireworks.

Crossley, representing the Norfolk Country Club, toured the layout in 69 strokes, five better than any of his rivals reported.

Fighting Fox Totes 126 In Tomlin

ROCKINGHAM PARK, Salem, N. H., July 26 (AP)—Belair Stud's Fighting Fox, winner of the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap, has been assigned top weight of 126 pounds by Racing Secretary John P. Turner for the $4000-added Tomlin Handicap, six furlonga sprint which will feature the card of races at Rockingham Park on Saturday.

The Fox has not started since his smashing victory in the Massachusetts and Racing Secretary expected definite word today about the possibility of his starting in the Tomlin.

Thirty-two of the outstanding sprinters in the East have been nominated for the event.

The gray-haired racing secretary rated Rough Time at 120 pounds, and Porter's Mite at 117, but every other one of the nominees was to be conceded anywhere from 10 to 26 pounds by the full brother of Gallant Fox.

Several of the sprinters are already on the grounds, and Golden Voyage, second to Volitant in the Shevlin Stakes, arrived yesterday to finish training for the Tomlin.

The three-year-old colt, owned by S. Bachrach and trained by R. V. Boyle, beat Third Degree, Tall Storystory, Time Sheet, Gilded Knight, and Chief Onaway in the Shevlin Stakes, and whipped El Chico in the Salvatore purse.

In four stakes this year, he has won three times and placed once, and it is expected that he will be one of the favorites.

Merchants, Amoco In Return Game

Tomorrow evening the Park Square Building Merchants will meet the Amoco Club for the second time, at Cleveland Circle. Amoco beat the Merchants on their opening game, 11 to 3, and have been very anxious for a return game.

This game promises to be one of the hottest battles that have ever been played in the league.

EX-BRAVES PLAYER DEAD

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 26 (AP)—George "Peaches" Graham, 62, one-time catcher for the Chicago Cubs and the Boston Braves, died today. Graham played in major league baseball more than 30 years ago.

Swifty SAYS:

"If the popularity of greyhound racing continues they'll have to build new highways down to Wonderland. Maybe before long I'll play to 100,000 people at a time as they do in England."

Pelleteri Reinstated By N. Y. Racing Board

NEW YORK, July 26 (AP)—The New York State Racing Commission reinstated Anthony Pelleteri, trainer-owner who was suspended last month as a result of an investigation into the "doping" of a race horse at Belmont Park, and expressed the belief that a "dope ring" had been broken up.

Pat McCarthy, a groom, who was suspended with Pelleteri, also was reinstated, effective today. They were suspended indefinitely June 29 after the horse Sun Plume, trained by Pelleteri, was found to have been drugged before his winning race at Belmont June 5.

Duke Student Wins Public Golf Match

BALTIMORE, July 26 (AP)—Chuck Alexander, of Durham, N. C., led the way into the second round of the national public links golf championship today by defeating James Calhoun of Pittsburgh, 6 and 5, in their 18-hole match over the Mount Pleasant Park course.

Alexander, a student at Duke University, didn't get much opposition from the Pennsylvanian, who was in a hurry to get back to his electrician's job.

Leon Derome Wins Vermont Court Title

ST. ALBANS, Vt., July 26 (AP)—Leon Derome of Montreal won the Vermont singles tennis title by defeating R. A. Brackett of Brattleboro, 6—3, 6—1, 6—1.

Harry Parker of Montpelier and Robert Jackson of Barre defeated Derome and Norman Meyers of Burlington, 8—6, 1—6, 6—2, 6—3 for the doubles title.

Roll Out the Barrel

HOUSTON, Tex., July 26 (AP)—Manager Al Vincent of the Beaumont baseball team played a Texas League game with Houston fan clapped and shouted in time as a loudspeaker blared out the beer barrel polka.

He felt better at the end of the game, though. Beaumont won.

Buccs Profited In Signing Up Chuck Klein

PITTSBURGH, July 25 (AP)—A $13.50 investment is returning big dividends to the Pittsburgh Pirates and to celebrate the Bucs set aside next Saturday as "Chuck" Klein Day."

Klein, the man the Phillies didn't want, was signed at a cost of $13.50 for train fare from Philadelphia to Boston and "the price of a telephone call from New York to Philadelphia."

The Pirate office, disclosing the expense of signing the veteran slugger, said the telephone call arranged a meeting in Boston at which Chuck was signed the day after the Phils released him as a free agent.

Klein's mighty bat snapped the Pirates out of the doldrums and boosted them back into the thick of the National League pennant scrap.

Until the Pirates were shutout by Boston last Sunday, Klein hit safely in 21 consecutive games and had become so popular with fans, he was nicknamed the "peepul's choice."

Since donning a Pirate uniform, June 7, Klein has regained the form that once made him a league leader in batting and has been hitting a .348 clip for the Bucs. Including his Philly record, he has a .319 batting average for the season.

Pirates Announce Schedule Changes

PITTSBURGH, July 26 (AP)—The Pirates announced three changes in their schedule abroad, all made at request of the home club.

The game August 21 at Boston was moved back and will be played as part of a doubleheader August 23. The game August 28 in Brooklyn was moved up and will be played as part of a double bill August 27. Games scheduled for morning and afternoon Labor Day at Chicago will be doubled up in an afternoon bargain bill.

ROSLINDALE TACKLES SOUTH BOSTON CLUB

Ray Coolidge's South Boston Town Club will be at home again tonight when they entertain the Roslindale Town Club at Lee Park City Point.

JOE SULLIVAN
Roslindale shortstop

As the Roslindale club last night completed a two-game sweep over Holy Name, Ray will nominate one of his best cluckers, Dillon, to upset the Strecker wreckers, who have won 28 games in the after-supper circuit.

Other encounters billed for tonight will at Charlestown's Barry Field, where the Navy Yarders await Bill Benson's St. Augustine crew. The battleship builders submerged the Saints last Monday night at South Boston, and tonight Delaney will be selected to make it two straight over the 1938 champions.

Star of the Sea Club will be crippled for the crucial final weeks through the loss of Lewis who sustained bone fractures in a fly ball collision last night when the Stars bowed to St. Alphonsus.

St. Alphonsus won the fifth straight last night and now has an even point-total with the East division second place holdmg St. Augustine Club.

King, Ridlon In Return Race

Thrills and chuckles often go hand in hand in speed racing and for that reason, Max A. D. Hatfield, in charge of the Riverside Park Speedway, Medford, has added a laugh feature for his big program tomorrow night.

A special motorcycle has been secured with "Leon Errol" wheels which cannot be controlled and are as bad as any western broncho. Famed motorcycle drivers and fans have been invited to try to stay on this pesky creature for one lap. There will be prizes for anybody able to turn the trick.

Bob King will be the center of attraction as he attempts to avenge a lost match race in a return meeting with Oscar Ridlon and then tries to whip Rufe Anderson in the feature.

TURCOTTE WINS

WEST HAVEN, Conn., July 26 (AP)—Dick Turcotte, 142½, Waterbury southpaw, turned on the heat in the final round, dropped Joey Zodda, 140, for no count and generally peppered his New York opponent with a two-fisted attack that won him Referee Jim Galvin's decision at the end of the six-round bout.

Boston Club Whips Gotham

If the opening night means anything, roller football is a cinch to be a hit in Boston during its three week stay at National League Field which concludes August 12.

A crowd estimated at 10,000 saw a clash with all the thrills, spills and accidents promised and to make the evening complete, the Boston aces edged out a 12 to 10 verdict over the New York White Sox.

Whether the Boston outfit will be able to repeat tonight is questionable in view of the fact that Walter Fay and Stan Gudinas were pretty badly smashed up. If they are out of the lineup tonight, the Boston team will be weakened considerably.

Highlights of the opening night proved that Lou Testa of New York is the greatest roller football player in the country but his constant bickering and fighting hurt his team greatly as he was ruled off five times during the opening battle.

Next Dilboy Show Set for August 2

The Dilboy Post, V. F. W., will renew their summer amateur boxing tournaments Wednesday night, August 2, at Dilboy Field, Somerville.

Forced to remain idle this week because of repairs and remodelling work being done around the field, the Dilboy Post has been lining up a list of young boxers and their next finlic production promises to be the best of the summer campaign.

REDS OFFICE SHUNS SERIES TICKET JINX

CINCINNATI, July 26 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds' front office cried aloud for help in stemming a tide of orders for World Series ticket.

"We're not accepting any of them and won't take any," declared Gabe Paul, traveling secretary, in making known that to date "at least 15,000 requests" had been received.

"Talk about 'pressure' of maintaining a nine-game lead," he stormed, "our office is swamped. Every mail brings dozens of orders from all parts of the country, even Canada.

"Some fans even make it a strictly cash proposition, tendering checks. These, like the rest, are being returned, pronto."

The club's refusal to accept bids is two-fold, Gabe declared, explaining:

"We don't want to put the 'whammy' on ourselves. As sure as we booked any orders, the team would go into a tail-spin, and second, it's not good business to think of a World Series until it's definitely known—or fairly certain, at least—what clubs are pennant winners."

All such things to the contrary notwithstanding, these were guarded hints that pennant talk was not being dismissed as mere bakkerdash.

For instance:

Left field seats to accommodate between 3500 and 4000 fans "could" be erected over a section of York street adjoining Crosley Field on the west, as was done for the 1919 World Series. This would bring the park's capacity to around 32,000. The press box "could" be lengthened if necessary, Gabe conceded.

"Hey!" he interrupted. "We can't talk like that! There's no sense in discussing such things! We have 71 more games to play and anywhy, remember what happened at Pittsburgh last year?"

Pam Barton to Play At Noroton, Conn.

BALTIMORE, July 25 (AP)—Pam Barton, British women's golf champion, who won the U. S. title in 1936, will compete in this year's tourney August 21-26 at the Wee Burn Club, Noroton, Conn., it was announced by the United States Golf Association.

Miss Barton scored a double in 1936. She already held the British championship when she triumphed at the Canoe Brook Country Club, Summit, N. J. She was the first Briton to win the American title since 1913, and the first to take both in the same year since Dorothy Campbell, now Mrs. Edward Howe, in 1909.

Ex-Bees Fan

No more can Ferdinand G. Brabant of Woburn attend the Bees' baseball games . . . by virtue of some expert razzing and fisticuffs he displayed at the Hive . . . but Ferdinand has found a new pasture in which to graze . . . he watched the Boston Red Sox wallop the Chicago White Sox yesterday and had a swell time doing it (without razzing). "For," says Ferdinand, "you can't razz a team that's winning." He's bona fide Sox fan now.
